Popular supposition that the champion has it all over the challenger in size is far from being a fact. While it is true "Tiger Jack" will outweigh his opponent by about three pounds, the challenger is taller than the champion and also exceeds Dempsey in size of waist, thigh and calf. Dempsey has larger biceps and wrists and in all other measurements the men are equal.

VERY LATEST NEWS

JACK DEMPSEY WEIGHS 190 POUNDS
Atlantic City, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey moved the beam at 190 pounds when he weighed in at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon for his fight tonight at Philadelphia with Gene Tunney.

O'BRIEN TAKES RECOUNT TO COURT

Protesting the recount which reversed his victory in the contest for Republican nomination as district attorney and returned Charles G. Keene a winner, District Attorney O'Brien today petitioned Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to declare the recount erroneous.

Today

Great Day, Great Fight.
Roosevelt's Warning.
Who Would "Consent"?
Happy Young Couple.

By Arthur Brisbane

Many things are scheduled for this day, and unexpected things may happen. It is sure to be the most important day for many of our people. The prize fighters are to meet in Philadelphia, where the location of independence was signed, and decide with their fists which of the two is nearer to the orange outcrop.

And that, in one direction, is the measure of our civilization. If the chain were to be judged by its weakest link, heaven help the human chain. Fortunately, the human race depends on strong links and the chain, those that hold and do the work, not on the yahoo assembly that will howl around the Philadelphia prize.

Theodore Roosevelt in his speech on the day foretold a useful warning against intemperance. To combat acknowledged evil. A few rich men spent large sums of money to get the work done on the yahoo assembly that will howl around the Philadelphia prize.

KEENE WINS BY 256; O'BRIEN PLANS SUIT

Charles G. Keene won the Republican nomination for district attorney by 256 votes today as the Boston recount was completed, and District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, his defeated opponent, announced that he would appeal to the Supreme Court, immediately.

The Boston recount gave Keene a gain of 214. He also gained in the Chelsea precinct, while O'Brien gained 99 in the Bronx.

Keene's gain in the entire county was 472, which more than erased O'Brien's lead of 419 in the original tabulation. The vote as tabulated on the recount is as follows:

|               |               |               |
|---------------|---------------|---------------|
| Keene         | 12,491        | 10,621        |
| O'Brien       | 884           | 2,181         |
| Chelsea       | 722           | 882           |
| Woburn        | 569           | 982           |
| Totals | 14,256 | 14,586 |

Representative Bernard Ginsberg of Dorchester cut down the lead of Alder H. Fox from 13 to 21 in the recount in Ward 14, the figures in the new tally being: Fox 2,099, Ginsberg 1,238. The latter, who had delayed the Ward 14 recount by frequent challenges, made a speech promising allegiance to all Republican candidates retaining those who defeated him for renomination.

SUPPLIED BY STATE HEALTH OFFICE TO AID VICTIMS OF HURRICANE

Airplanes will carry typhoid inoculation serum from Boston to the devastated areas in Florida, where pestilence threatens those who survived the hurricane.

The Boston department of health today announced that it has ordered 400,000 doses of typhoid vaccine today from Dr. George W. Bishop, Massachusetts commissioner of public health, and will rush these Southward in cargo or plane, along with other supplies.

The Boston supply of antityphoid inoculations will form part of a huge quantity of disseminating serum that are being forwarded to the stricken territory.

Twenty lectures for infants will also be sent from this city with the shipment of serum, and more will be dispatched later. Although money was specified as the only requisite in the first call for help.

45, DESTITUTE, ON WAY TO HUB FROM FLORIDA

Starving, wet and hungry, but bearing their tragedies heavily, a band of 45 Boston men and women, refugees from Florida, are in Washington today, with the Red Cross their only hope of being fed and reaching home.

They are the bulk of a group of 45 Boston men and women, most of them women—only two of whom had sufficient funds to come off the way to the hub.

These two left the Federal Express at the Back Bay station, and were immediately for their homes. The others, because their lot

MELLON SAYS SURPLUS EXCEEDS 185 MILLION

Washington, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Increasing tax receipts flooding into the Treasury enabled Secretary Mellon today to boast his original estimate of a $185,000,000 surplus for this fiscal year.

He was unwilling to predict what the eventual surplus might be, and asserted it was too early to talk of tax reduction.

"The administration is anxious to see others to cut taxes at the lowest safe limit," said Mr. Mellon. "But we have got to look to future years. We are enjoying tax returns now on unprecedented revenue, and any change in this would wipe out the anticipated margin."

He described as impossible the proposal of Chairman Cullford of the Democratic congressional campaign

DEMPSEY—"I'll knock Tunney out with the first punch if I can. I have lasted as champion for seven years and don't think I have reached the end yet."

TUNNEY—"If defeated I will have no alibi. I do not dispute the abilities of my opponent, but have unlimited confidence in my own. I am confident I will win."

STADIUM READY FOR BIG FIGHT

Sequel-Centennial Stadium, Philadelphia, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Heavy storm clouds loomed over the Dempsey-Tunney fight arena today, sparkling a background with intermittent showers.

Tex Rickard's "weather luck" was not much in evidence, but there was no indication that the weather would cause a postponement. "Nothing about the cloudiness," declared after a preliminary survey of conditions and inspection of the stadium.

While he was making this statement rain fell down lightly to fulfill the weather man's forecast of "occasional showers today and tomorrow."

The big stadium was a dreary vista in the gloomy atmosphere. A small gang of workmen hampered the last falls into the temporary stands while others completed the task of providing two additional exits. These were to offset the two extra entrances built yesterday to help distribute the record crowd of 122,000.

Outside the arena a heavy police cordon was stationed early, but the bleachers had little to do. The fact that there is to be a minute sale of tickets at the stadium, all of which are being reserved and sold at downtown box offices, forebode the sale of all but the few "rainfall" fans. Only a few scattering fans were on the outside.

SKY CLEARING FOR BATTLE TONIGHT

Philadelphia, Sept. 23 (AP).—Weather conditions more favorable for the Dempsey-Tunney fight were apparent at noon. It had stopped raining and the clouds were higher, indicating a decreasing possibility of further showers. The temperature was 70.

By JACK CONWAY

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—All obstacles to Jack Dempsey's defence of his world's heavyweight boxing crown were swept aside today and his battle with Gene Tunney at the Sesqui Stadium will be staged, as per schedule, at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

Sullen skies looked down upon the vanguard of the mighty army of fight-mad fans, who literally engulfed the city in a tidal wave of humanity as the battalions headed for the scene of conflict.

Record Crowds Gather to See Giants Meet in Title Clash

Gene Tunney, the challenger, was the first of the principals to reach the battleground. Tunney landed at the navy yard in an airplane piloted by "Casey" Jones, just before 2 o'clock. He announced that the trip through the air had been made because of his fear that the 100-mile journey from Stroudsburg over rough roads in an automobile might send him into the ring jaded and nervous.

7 WOMEN, MAN SAVED FROM BACK BAY FIRE

Seven women and a man were rescued by policemen from smoke-filled rooms and corridors today as fire swept through the four-story apartment house at No. 69-71 West End avenue back this morning. Starting in the corner of an empty basement room, the fire followed the stairs to the roof and the building was drenched with smoke when the blaze was discovered by H. E. Booth one of the occupants.

PLAN A WORLD FEDERATION TO FIGHT CANCER

Lake Mohawk, N. Y., Sept. 22.—(AP)—A proposal for an International Federation of National Societies related in the fight against cancer is under consideration this week by the general committee of the Cancer Symposium meeting at the Lake Mohawk Mountain House.

The suggestion was made by French representatives, Dr. Henri Hamman, professor of surgery at the University of Lyons, and Dr. Charles Regaud, director of the Pasteur Laboratory at the Paris Institute.

The use of radium and Roentgen or X-rays in treating cancer was the principal topic of today's sessions. Dr. Regaud asserted that in treatment of skin cancers the use of X-rays and radium "give results equal to those of surgery and in their application, probably are superior."

"In other forms of cancer," he said, "the advance made by radio-logical methods is much less. Radium alone they do not furnish more than palliative results, although these, too, are important."

Dr. Robert H. Greenough of Boston, member of the Harvard Cancer Commission, declared that by deep radiation of Roentgen rays or radium the progress of cancer could be retarded and the symptoms alleviated, but that there was "no justification in many cases for expecting to obtain a permanent cure."

MAN SLASHED ACROSS FACE IN FIGHT

Slashed about the head and face with a gun and beaten with a club, William Sheehan, 25, of Royal avenue, Cambridge, is at Massachusetts General Hospital in serious condition while Ray Berry, 26, is under arrest on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

The arrested youth, according to the police, has served five years in a Massachusetts prison and was involved in a desperate attempt of ten prisoners to escape there. Police say he admitted wounding Sheehan during a fight.

The encounter took place in front of the Chardon street city station. Sheehan chased his assailant, but collapsed from loss of blood and was taken to the hospital by a motorist. Patrolman Joseph Kowalski of Joy street division was sent to find the slacker and picked up Berry in an alley near the station, while a crowd of men hovered at the entrance, watching his movements, but afraid to venture after him. The policeman arrested Berry and later found a blood-stained razor.

"That's the man," Sheehan said at the hospital when Berry was led to his cot, according to the police.

165 'PARKERS' PAY $825 IN FINES

Judge Michael Murray, in traffic court, fined 148 traffic law violators $5 each, five others $10 each, found one man not guilty and ordered $250 against the remaining nine in a batch of 165 "guests" who included six women.

It took only 45 minutes to collect the $825 that resulted into the country's coffers from the pockets of the 165 defendants who pleaded guilty.

Those that paid the $10 fines were defendants who pleaded not guilty. Only one appeared, was taken by Mary, secretary of the court—and he put up $25 cash bail after Judge Murray had refused to take a check. There were six women defendants, as has been said—of them are—Especially angry was Miss Helen A. Lusk, society girl of New York, who was sitting in Boston street, but was fined $5, but when she was outside in Somerset street she was charged to the reporter for this newspaper.

"And so I had to come to Boston to commit a crime. It is the first time I ever have been out of court. I never had any dealings with a police officer before."

When the Boston police department has nothing more important to do than bring in automobile violators, it certainly is a small, small town. I don't wonder that your most famous men are dead some.

"However, I am leaving for New York tomorrow and I hope I won't ever have to come back to Boston again. Nine I think would be furnished. Hal Hal!"

This from Helen, whose costly defendant on the dock was Gertrude Weiss, fined $10 and given up October 15 to pay. Grace M. Billman, who deflated Florence R. Kilian, contributor of the Boston Herald, of Newburyport and also angry, who paid $10, and Amy Brand, contributor of $10.

One of the men marked up for default was Benjamin Boverfist Jr., deputy election commissioner of Boston. A friend who appeared declared he was in a hospital.

No lawyer appeared for any defendant.

UNDETERMINED AFTER 65 YEARS
Madeline Lavigne, who recently arrived from Italy, and her brother, Joseph, who she had not seen for fifty-five years, and whom she did not recognize, have been reunited. She was born in Sicily, where she lived until she was twenty.

In the meantime her brother had left for the United States. She married and was the mother of eleven children, all but two of whom died. These children also came to this country and settled in Cambridge. It was when she arrived here that a pleasant surprise was given to both the brother and sister, when they were introduced to each other.

PARAGUAY STORM DEATH LIST NOW EXCEEDS 200

Auncon, Paraguay, Sept. 23 (A.P.)—Latest estimates say that the number of persons killed during the hurricane which swept the town of Auncon, Paraguay, is 200. It is likely will pass the 200 mark. Some estimate place the death toll as high as 500. Persons who were in the town are reported to be dying hourly.

A detachment from the military command at Auncon, says it has 100 bodies already been found and buried and the work of extricating victims from the debris is proceeding.

More PARTICULAR about BREAD than any other WOMEN in the WORLD

TEACHERS of cooking and diet in great universities, leaders in the field of home economics, food editors—for them a loaf of bread had to be more than just good! It had to be as perfect as human skill could make it.

For these women have spent their lives in the study of foods. They know the exact importance of every ingredient that goes into a loaf—the need of thorough mixing—of slow, even baking.

With their help we have perfected White Rose Bread. A bread almost twice as rich in milk as the ordinary loaf. Made with specially tested flour, with the same quality of sugar and salt you use on your own table. Slow baked to develop the tender, crispy, golden brown crust. So carefully and richly made that it retains its freshness for days.

No wonder so many women who serve White Rose Bread say they like it better than any other

have helped to give you this
NEW LOAF*

bread they have ever tasted! Careful mothers are enthusiastic about it because it has the richness and actual food value so necessary to active little bodies. Discriminating women are delighting in this bread that meets their high standard both in delicacy of taste and daintiness of appearance.

Try White Rose Bread today. Notice the difference yourself. Notice its fine, even grain—the way it slices wafer-thin without crumbling—the evenness with which it toasts. Let your family taste its full, appetizing flavor.

You will agree, too, that here, indeed, is a finer—richer—more delicious loaf. A loaf that you will want to serve always.

Your own grocer has White Rose Bread. It comes to you in a dainty wrapper of blue and white checks like a fresh tea towel. It is baked not once but twice each day so that you may get it fresh just a few hours away from the oven—whenever you buy. Massachusetts Baking Company.

Among the leading food authorities who helped to perfect White Rose Bread are the heads of two famous cooking schools, the nutrition experts of two great universities, and the food editor of a well known magazine.

MILLS GIRL ENDING STORY BARES HEART

Charlotte, Knowing Mother's Mistake, Gives Little Thought to Marriage

(Editor's Note: How her mother's first romance exhibited the sort of Charlotte Mills against her mother. Mrs. Eleanor Mills tells an unfortunate marriage, then she was 16. She sought refuge at the church and in the love of her mother's maid.

After all the suffering which has come to Charlotte Mills through the first romance, what does she look of marriage? Her story is an extraordinary revelation of the heart of a young girl who has known suffering and disillusionment and who has seen, too, the ennobling qualities of love.

By CHARLOTTE MILLS

CHAPTER XVIII. THE FUTURE?

Copyright, 1926, Fergus Feature Syndicate, Inc.

My story is told now—albeit late in the day, but I have made up my mind to tell it. I have made up my mind to tell it. I have made up my mind to tell it.

The future? I shudder because I do not know. I am, alas, a poor little girl with definite ideas of work. After mother's death, I went on to high school, as she wanted me to, and was graduated three years ago.

Until recently I was a competent operator with a small sales company in New Brunswick. I am not a stenographer, but I have never cared for that work. When the case that people call so glibly, the "Hail-Mills murder mystery" was reported in July, I had had all the trouble in the world, and was very often and was obliged to leave my position.

ON MARRIAGE

After a million or so questions I have been asked as to whether I have had my ideal of love and marriage. I don't know. I have had a lot of love, but I have never had a man, as I suppose every girl has. But marriage has never seemed more than a vague possibility to me. I think I have always been afraid of it—afraid of disappointment and disillusion.

But I suppose if I met a man who would come to me, I would never think about disappointment and disillusion any more. I would love him, and he would love me. I would love him, and he would love me. I would love him, and he would love me.

MOTHER'S VIEWS

Perhaps I expect too much. Now I am going to make life as it comes and enjoy what I can while I can. Many a time mother would say to me, "The only reason I live is a little longer is to live a trial. I never did mind, but what you could call life, Midge, is to live a trial. I never did mind, but what you could call life, Midge, is to live a trial."

Mother found happiness in her love for Mr. Hall. I love her love for Mr. Hall. I love her love for Mr. Hall. I love her love for Mr. Hall.

A moderate amount of comfort appeals to me. I have always loved for nice things and appreciated them. I have always loved for nice things and appreciated them. I have always loved for nice things and appreciated them.

Always I had the idea of going away and taking my brother Dan with me and sticking close to him for mother's sake. But since her death, father has "adopted" Dan completely and made him see things as he does. When Dan was small, he was like mother, with a warm, enthusiastic nature and love of ambition. I wonder what Dan's going to be now, without mother.

After the first investigation of this "Hail-Mills case" the usual offer was made me to go on the stage. All they wanted was to dress me up and parade me around to be stared at as "Charlotte Mills, daughter of" etc., etc. Of course I turned it down flat.

LIKE MILLION OTHERS I'm afraid I'm not a terribly thirty girl. I like to spend as I go and try to look on life, or what ever it may be, for the future. I like to look on life, or what ever it may be, for the future. I like to look on life, or what ever it may be, for the future.

I am sorry a girl like a million others, not pretty, not very brilliant, not very educated, not very ambitious, not very interesting and pretty clothes and good times.

I have had more than a girl's share of trouble and trouble. I have had a mother whom I devoted, and who loved me, and who was a pet to me, and who taught me, and whose memory I treasure, and whose I have tried to tell as honestly as I can.

We were so close really, that her story is my story.

THE END

Read Mr. Stevens' Statement to You!

A recent survey of business conditions, and the fact that we are very much overstocked with a big lot of fine used cars, and that we need room as well as the money, in order to take more used cars in trade on the new Rickenbacker cars has caused us to take immediate and drastic action in disposing of our entire but stock of used cars as quickly as possible.

We are very frank to have you know that we are obliged to take the accompanying losses that the enforced marketing of these cars entails.

With this in view we have gone much further in price-cutting than the present used car market justifies. It is our expressed purpose and determined intention to make this sale the greatest money-saving event for you in our business career.

You have our word there will be no fake or bombast here. If you buy a used car from us you buy a car that will give you good service. It has always been our aim and policy to give the buyer the best value for his money, when he buys a used car from us.

We can arrange terms to suit you. Don't miss it. Come!

Philip Spitalny's similar jazz band will be heard at the studio at 2 o'clock today. They are valuable in the contest and for recording and their concert will be given at the studio.

Importance of Good Sockets

Cheap sockets should not be used to save money in the material factor. These saving outlets should be closed at all times. The rule and time saving to which the grid plate and filament circuits are con used until the sockets are checked for proper contact. If it is not done they cannot be checked after they become loose, which they eventually do.

EAGLES CANCEL GAME WITH PROVIDENCE

by JOHN R. GILLOOLY
Roston College and Providence
College will not collide on the gridiron this Fall.

The announcement was officially made by Manager John C. Drummond of R.C. The schedule called for a game with the Rhode Island team on the home field at 7:30 p.m. on Holy Cross game, November 29.

A misunderstanding on the date was the cause of the cancellation. The rival Catholic college has scheduled its game with the Cardinals for the best of three.

And a game scheduled with Middlebury on the same date. It was to encounter the "Carmen." The Cardinals had been scheduled to open the Providence school on the management has since been negotiated with both Middlebury andbury.

The Cardinals finally conceded that they would not play on the date. They decided not to play on that Saturday, but to meet up for the game November 29. The Cardinals will play on the weekend. However, the Newton College team will play on the same date as the other opponent on that date if it is not.

Cav has dropped twenty-five men from his training table. This is practically a "cut," although any athlete desirous of proving to the Major that his ability has not been noticed can keep right on trying.

A second and smaller cut is expected some time this week. There are over forty men now officially on the squad and the mentor intends to have a band of about thirty by the time the C. U. game rolls around. This number will be retained throughout the season.

Simple rules of careful diet make prize-winning babies

orange juice. At seven months. At ten some. At one her bottle some more Farina. At three an egg and at her bottle." The physicians agree that as the child grows older and begins to creep and walk, it must have more variety in its food than milk alone can furnish them. This is why Hecker's Cream Farina is often used by the baby's first solid food. It is a natural food—just the creamy hearts of wheat—very easily digested. In addition to its abundant carbohydrates, Hecker's Cream Farina contains a wide variety of proteins than baby gets from milk alone, together with certain valuable salts and minerals. Hecker's Cream Farina has been recommended by doctors as a perfect food for babies. For 60 years no better has been found. Babies really love it, and under the kindly stimulation of its healthful food energy, grow to plump and happy children.

"You should," opened her blue eyes to glance an amazing wide. She would never have dreamed this of Mr. Vicker.

"And do you know what I should do next?" she asked.

"Should, first of all, slap you. Hard."

"And do you know what I should do next?" she asked.

"Should, first of all, kiss you with admirable calm." "I should like to see you try," he teased, and kissed her again.

Diantha gasped indignantly. "I should like to see you try!"

"If you did," said Mr. Vicker, the words came out of his mouth like leather. "I should hold both your hands in one of mine, and you should kiss me and kiss you and kiss me."

"I can't believe it," denied Diantha, her velvet eyes wide, her eyes shining. "I should like to see you try," she said.

"You should turn up to be a beauty."

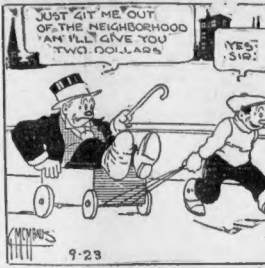

"In disguise," affirmed Jack Vicker.

Marriage is a Civil Service job, in which most of us fail in the "service" and fall down on the "civility."

Most platonic friends and by marrying, in the strength of their mutual enthusiasm for single blessedness.

There appear to be three kinds of wives. Those who cook seven breakfasts a week for their husbands; those who meet their husbands at breakfast; and those who live with them.

Some men can "put" a girl with a will of their own, and yet will do exactly as she says.

THOMAS BROWN, No. 9 Hall street, Jamaica Plain.

We have conquered the air, harnessed the waters and tamed the beasts of the field—and now, all that remains is for woman to civilize man before breakfast. A little, and the world will be quite lovely.

Learning to dance may help you on the stage and learning to cook may help you in housekeeping; but being an actress and being a wife are fine arts, which require genius and hard practice, and cannot be taught in any school.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

By William F. Kirk

THAT'S A Tree Burgin coming to our house this evening, my Ma. I sent for him.

A what? said Pa.

A Tree Burgin, said Ma. Two of our Elburn trees seems to be dying, and Ma, and they are going to have a operation.

Pa was just going to say anything when the door bell rang, and Ma said, Well, here he is now.

He was a queer looking fellow, he was awful tall like a tree & he wore blue spectacles.

This is the gentleman I was speaking of, said Ma, he is going to see to the matter of those trees.

O. K., said Pa. So we all went out on the lawn, & the minute the man saw the Elburn trees he and they went flapping. You sent for me just in time, Madam, he said.

Tomorrow will be of been too late, said Pa.

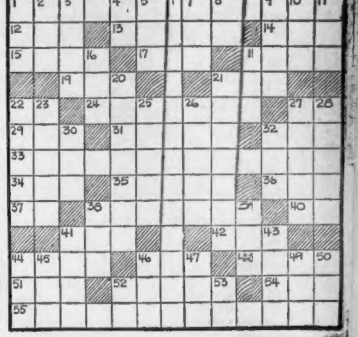

I am afraid it was, said the Tree Burgin. This is a very grave case, a very grave case.

The trees had been ailing for quite some time, said Pa. One of them had quite a "Tomorrow" look to it, it was shaking, but maybe it was the wind.

Maybe, said the Tree Burgin, there seems to be plenty of wind around here, he he. The life was looking dead, Pa kind of hard this his blew spectation.

There Are "Big Fights" and BIG Fights

Which of Two Kinds Interests You More?

The picture on this page is a fight, and while it has nothing to do, directly, with the Dempsey-Tunney match, it is also what you might call a picture of a BIG FIGHT.

The soldier hanging dead on the barbed wire entanglements will not see the "big fight" in Philadelphia. He won't be howling around the ringside, urging one man or the other to "kill him."

He won't bet, or curse or crowd. He will not be one of the two-legged animals sitting in joy and perfectly safe, watching two others fight for the world's heavyweight championship and a million dollars.

But the man in this picture also fought for a heavy-weight championship and WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP. He lost his fight, as millions of others did, but he also WON THE FIGHT.

There was no "purse hung up" to attract him. He had no seconds, no manager as he ran across No Man's Land with bayonet fixed, obeying orders, climbing the barbed wire that tore his clothes and flesh, until the bullet or half a dozen bullets from machine-gun fire stopped him and "hung him up."

Here he hangs, as he hung for hours, perhaps not quite dead.

His dying hands have dropped the bayonet. The steel hat has fallen from his head. His heart beats no longer. But he was A FIGHTER.

Few ever knew his name probably. Nobody remembers it now, except his mother, if she be living.

This man is one of millions that fought for their country, all sincere men on both sides of the barbed wire, all believing that they were doing their duty, all fighting FOR A CAUSE and not FOR A PURSE.

This picture by Bruce Bairnsfather, a Briton who did his share of the fighting and had the good fortune to come out alive, will make many Americans think. It will interest especially the American young men that crossed the ocean, to leave tens of thousands of their friends buried there. Millions of them would have been "hung up" like this had the war lasted much longer.

Europe was tired and only TOO WILLING to let our boys see what life was like in the front-line trenches.

Mr. Bairnsfather made this picture in connection with the great peace night ball that was given in London to celebrate the making of peace.

The line that he put above it was: "REMEMBER SOME-ONE WHO WILL BE REPORTED MISSING AT THE PEACE NIGHT BALL."

This picture shows a man that will also "be reported missing" at the great fight in Philadelphia. He is a different kind of fighter. And too many of us have forgotten him.

He will not be in the minds of those that pack the special trains to Philadelphia and pay their fifty dollars for a seat "at the ringside."

Fourteen thousand such alleged ringside seats will be sold. Each will contain a yelling man or woman howling advice to Dempsey or Tunney.

How many of the big crowd do you suppose would ever have done what the man in this picture did?

Those that like to see OTHERS fight are usually not much inclined to do any fighting on their own account.

Dangerous Business

Taking "Hitch-Hikers" Into YOUR Car or Begging Your Way Into the Car of a STRANGER

The experience of two Boston students who "bummed" and "thumbed" their way to Chicago and back in seven days simply goes to show that, notwithstanding all that has been printed about murder and robbery on the highway, there still are simple souls in motorcars who will give the so-called "hiker" a lift.

"I had a pet theory," one of the Boston boys says, "that no one was fool enough to pick up two strangers after dark."

He knows better, now. "Another rather remarkable ride was with a man in a special coupe. When we got in, he said: 'I don't very often pick people up, nowadays. I have been singled three times and lost two cars, but I still have some confidence in human nature and figure that they are not all alike.'"

In due time, probably, THIS motorist will know whether it is the hundredth hiker, or only the two hundredth, who robs and kills.

It is a splendid thing and a very natural thing for youth to seek adventure, and if no one went hiking except the student we could see some excuse for the practice. As things are, however, it is dangerous business, a frequent menace to the thoughtless or undiscerning motorist and an occasional menace to credulous Youth-on-the-Highway.

Sick Men Rule?

Why Not?

Graham Wallace, learned Britisher, lecturing in Vienna, says that sick men have ruled the world for some time. He mentions President Wilson, struck down nervously, Lord Northcliffe, who ruled English public opinion when he was dying of nervous disease, Clemenceau, who, he says, has "fixed ideas," which is a nervous malady. Lenin died of "nervous disease."

Nothing NEW about that. Napoleon, Caesar and Alexander the Great, all three were highly nervous, in fact dazed nervously. There is only SO MUCH power in a human being.

If too much of it goes into the brain, the body must suffer.

HE Will Not See the Big Fight

Here is a fighter that never "put on the gloves." The fight was to a finish, and there was no purse for the winner. He fought for his country, for the honor of his flag and of his father and mother, not for any personal championship. The odds were against him from the start. That made no difference.

He was not "out to win," but out to do his duty. He did it. His "last round" began toward daybreak on some dreary morning. The word came, and he started; his eyes straight ahead, bayonet held steadily, he went AS FAR AS HE COULD. No man can go farther.

He will not see the big fight. He saw a bigger, BETTER one.
